SCOTSDALE MAN IS CHOSEN FOR CONSUL SERVICE

F. Hoffman Advised He Will Leave Soon
for Brazil.

WAS INTERPRETER DURING WAR

Served With United States Armies,
Being Stationed at St. Nazaire; Added Interest Is Shown in Chamber of Commerce Movement; Other Notes.

Special to The Courier.
SCOTSDALE, July 23.—William F. Hoffman, son of Elias J. H. Hoffman of this place, has been appointed to the American consular service at Porto Alegre, Rio Grande de Sul, Brazil, and has been advised by the State Department to be ready to leave at an early date.

Mr. Hoffman is a graduate of the Scottdale high school and also of Franklin & Marshall college. He won the $300 scholarship for the University of Pennsylvania, at Philadelphia, and was, on graduating from that institution, also awarded a scholarship in a Berlin university. Before the war he taught English and German at Atlanta, Ga., and at Windsor high school for one year.

At the outbreak of the war he entered the service as a French interpreter, and was stationed at St. Nazaire until the signing of the armistice, being transferred at that time to Paris. Upon receiving his discharge he returned home and a little later located in Los Angeles, Cal. He was in that city during the recent earthquake.

More Interest Shown.
Since the meeting of the chamber of commerce on Tuesday evening more enthusiasm has been shown by local people than at any time since the organization of that body. C. L. Miller wishes to get some action from the body and following Tuesday night's session there is no question that many merchants feel they have missed an opportunity to benefit the town. With the fact in view another meeting will likely be held next Tuesday. Although the chamber has not been very active, the bringing of the apron factory to Scottdale is the result of its labors. Several very important matters are waiting on a reorganization of the chamber and appointment of proper committees.

Band Concert Tonight.
The Grand Army band will give its 107th free concert at Loucks park tonight. The program arranged by Director J. Frank Hardy follows:

Selection, 1919 Show—"Girl Behind the Gun"

W. C. T. U. Meeting.
William McGowan of Everson will entertain the W. C. T. U. home on Tuesday evening at 7:30.

Plenic Date Set.
August 14 has been set as the date for the Wesley Chapel picnic. This is an annual affair and is always looked forward to by the grownups as well as the children.

Personal.
J. Nevill Waugaman has arrived home from Lancaster, where he had been visiting.

O. P. Ballardine, who is enjoying a vacation with his family in the mountains, spent Tuesday in Scottdale.

Miss Hattie Miller left last evening to spend a month with friends in Texas.

Mrs. Newton Copeland of Windsor is spending a few days with her husband here.

Scottdale was well represented at the Frick picnic at Oakford yesterday.

Pennsville.

PENNSVILLE, July 23.—Mrs. A. C. Flanagan and daughter, Edith, of Cranston, spent a few days last week with Pennsville friends.

Mrs. Sue Mann spent Sunday afternoon at Poplar Grove visiting at the home of her brother, W. C. Mann.

Mr. and Mrs. Julius Apple of Irwin spent a few days last week visiting at the home of the latter's sister, Mrs. F. S. Roadman.

Miss Alice Detweiler returned Tuesday afternoon from a week's visit at the home of her sister, Mrs. DeVaux McLean, McKeesport.

Mrs. Thomas Baker returned home Tuesday afternoon from a few days visit with Manor friends.

Mrs. M. J. Webber of McKeesport is spending a few days this week visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. M. A. Devenport.

Walter Huey of East End was a Pennsville caller Wednesday morning.

Mrs. O. P. Leubart was at McKeesport Wednesday visiting her daughter, Mrs. William Henerson. She was accompanied by her granddaughter, Miss Margaret Hyatt of Gibson avenue, Conneltsville, who remained for a several weeks visit.

Lake Ore Shipments Heavy.
The June movement of iron ore down the lakes was approximately 8,250,000 tons, or 1,250,000 tons more than the movement in June of last year, and less than 700,000 tons short of the record June movement, made in 1918. While the season to July 1st was young, there was a gain over the same period of last year of 450,000 tons.

Among Gay Party Frocks

EVERYBODY is going somewhere—say the commuters who are busy outfitting prospective tourists for summer. They are making all sorts of clothes to wear at all sorts of places; for Americans are exploring their own country, as well as other quarters of the world, and demand apparel suited to all regions. But a vast majority will go to the usual summer resort where they are sure of comforts and amusements, and what they are buying is more interesting than the tugging of those who are going to far lands or unusual climates.

The younger women are earnestly engaged with all their belongings, but their earnestness blossoms into rapture when party frocks come up for consideration. They have a choice that includes quaint and desirable styles, borrowed from those of a half century or so ago, or frivolous and sometimes daring modes, sponsored by great French names, or their pretty frocks that do not claim a long lineage—but are gayly satisfied to be American of 1920. One of these youthful and modest frocks appears above, along with a demure painter dress of taffeta and lace. Either of these is sure to score a triumph when the time comes for its appearance among others of its kind.

Georgette crepe and lace over an underslip of thin silk, make the delightful model in which accordion plaiting is used to such advantage. A long underslip is made of the plaited georgette and finished with a pleated edge at the bottom. Over this a long tunic of fine, net top lace is bordered at the bottom with plain georgette. The under bodies is of plain georgette draped with lace and has elbow sleeves of lace. A full plaiting of plaited georgette widens the hips and the plaited georgette makes a finish for the sleeves. There is a sea of wide, soft satin ribbon, like the georgette in color, but in a deeper shade.

In the other dress the skirt is made of lace flouncing and the overgarment of taffeta with corded edges. The bodice is wrinkled over a fitted lining and the skirt draped into panniers. The round neck and short sleeves are finished with net flouncing, bound along the edge with taffeta to make them flare.

Pass the Summer in Finest Health

Take a teaspoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin when tired, dull or constipated. Quick results!

WE cannot all spend the Summer in cool mountain resorts, and those who stay at home and suffer through the hot days will find it necessary to be extra cautious about their health. Hot foods are easier to digest than cold, and even hot soup, though it overboils for the moment, is grateful to the system.

Above all, keep the bowels open; that in itself cools the blood and calms the nerves. But when the bowels are sluggish and show signs of constipation, a teaspoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and you will get quick results. Syrup Pepsin is a combination of stimulating herbs with pepsin which doctors have sold for a quarter of a century. It is the largest selling liquid laxative in the world.

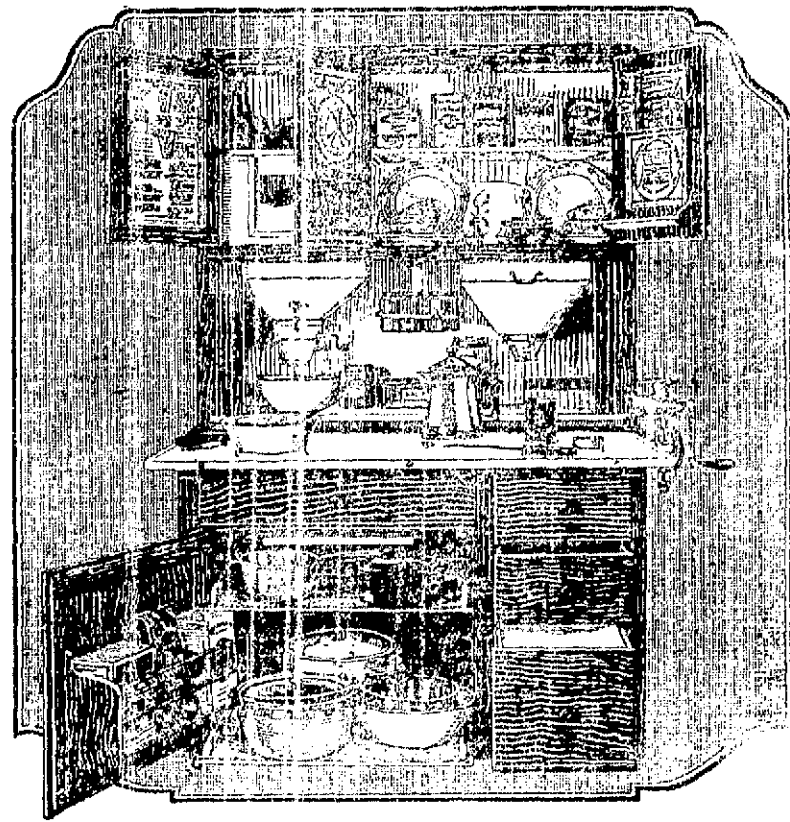

complaints. Mrs. R. B. Masters of 124 Second Ave., Birmingham, Ala., has used it in her family for twelve summers, and she never misses an opportunity of telling her friends how healthy Syrup Pepsin has kept them. It has many uses these summer days.

FREE Millions of people of all ages suffer from occasional or chronic constipation. Let them send name and address to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 572 Washington St., Monticello, N. Y., for a free sample bottle of his wonderful Syrup Pepsin. 8 million bottles were bought at drug stores last year, the largest sale in the world.

HOOSIER

SAVES MILES OF STEPS

$5 Turns Summer Drudgery Into Summer Comfort

THESE are months when household tasks are hardest to endure; when you need to reduce kitchen work to a minimum. These, then, are the days when you need a Hoosier Kitchen Cabinet the most. For this wonderful kitchen helper enables you to do your work in much less time and it saves your energy for enjoyable things.

Come Out of the Kitchen— Spend Your Time Where It's Cool

Every housewife is entitled to leisure—to the fullest enjoyment of summer pleasures. A Hoosier will help you to gain these hours. And you can have a Hoosier placed in your kitchen for ONE DOLLAR. You need only select the model that pleases you most and its many conveniences immediately begin to cut your work in half. Small amounts each week soon pay the balance of Hoosier's moderate price. Come at once and select your Hoosier. Don't be a slave to a hot kitchen another day.

At the Theatres

THE SOISSON.

"FRIVOLOUS WIVES"—Featuring an all-star cast and a selected comedy, are being shown today. The production is in five acts and is one that will please all members of the family.

THE PARAMOUNT.

"HUMAN STUFF"—With Harry Carey in the leading role, is being shown today.

When the first scenes of "Human Stuff" were flashed on the screen showing a millionaire's mansion and an exclusive society atmosphere, with the star in the correct garb of the East, conveyed the impression that Carey had selected a new type of story. But in a very short space of time he was his old self, in flannel shirt, boots and spurs, with the towering mountains for a background and surrounded by his rough riding cowboys.

In "Human Stuff" Carey appears as the son of a rich man who yearns for the open air and finds the management of his father's business distasteful. Circumstances lead him West, and here he battles with man and nature, against overwhelming odds, until they declare him victor. A love story enters into the plot, adding just the proper touch of romance to a red-blooded drama.

The story was directed by Reeves Eason; Rudolph Christians as the father, Mary Charleson as the sweetheart, Ruth Fuller Golden as the sister, Fontaine La Rue as the Spanish girl, with Charles Le Moyne and Joe Harris as the ranchmen, offer the star his principal support.

Be sure to ask the druggist for the double strength Othine as this strength is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles. Ask.

TRACE CAR HERE

Machine, Stolen in Pittsburgh, Located in This City.

Paramount V. Bert Ritchie left yesterday to trace an auto reported stolen from Pittsburgh two weeks ago and which was in this city. A detective arrived in the city last night and informed the local police that the car had been here for the past two weeks. It is the property of Harry S. Hunter, Pittsburgh.

The car, a standard, was driven by a man whose name is unknown. He was last seen wearing a coat sweater by Officer Rull, to whom he remarked about the weather as he passed Braddock corner yesterday.

Rull was under the impression the man was coming near here and had noticed the car pass him several times. The machine was painted a maroon color and was also seen in the vicinity of Braddock corner.

It was reported the morning that the same man had tried to pass a bogus check on Dr. Donald Nimrod, who refused to accept it.

MOTOR TRANSPORTATION

Brewing With Astonishing Rapidity;
5,000 Miles in Operation.

Motorized highway transportation is growing with astonishing rapidity.
New York state alone has over four hundred motor express lines in operation. It is estimated that, for the whole country, there are not less than 1,000 such lines in operation. These lines are of greatly varying size and widely scattered.

The American Motor Freight company, with headquarters at Sioux Falls, S. D., is incorporated at $500,000.
A map of its route includes 80
towns in Minnesota, Iowa and South Dakota. The New England Transportation company, which operates out of Boston, Mass., is reported as having 150 motor trucks in service, which operate over 12 routes totaling over 1,000 miles in length. The Patriot Motor Express company of Wichita and Kansas City, Kan., is capitalized at $1,000,000. It is reported that the company is operating throughout Kansas,
Colorado and Missouri and will use 150 trucks.

LOSS OF 490,000 TONS IN SOFT COAL IN THE WEEK OF JULY FOURTH

Compares Favorably With Same Week
In Previous Years; Production
Is an Increase, However.

The report of the United States Geological Survey states that the total production of soft coal during the week of Independence Day is estimated at 9,303,000 tons. The decrease of 490,000 tons below the output of the preceding week was not as great as had been anticipated. The production during the five-day week ended July 10 compares favorably with the week of Independence Day in preceding years: 1917, 6,766,000; 1918, 10,110, 000; 1919, 7,459,000.

The average rate of production on the five working days of the week was 1,861,000 net tons, the greatest attained at any time since the middle of last January. The rate is somewhat deceptive because it followed two days of light production, Friday and Saturday, July 2 and 3, and two full working days, Sunday and Monday, July 4 and 5, during which the railroads were able in part to catch up in their work of placing cars. For this reason the curve of average daily production has not been extended definitely beyond the week of July 3.

That production is actually on the increase, however, is shown by preliminary reports of loadings on July 12, 13 and 14, which have been at a rate of five or six per cent greater than that before the Independence holiday.

MOTOR FUEL SUPPLY SHORT

Gasoline Cannot Be Relied On To Fill
Demand—Alcohol the Coming Power.

Motor oil is very much in the market. These of Mexico are particularly rich in the heavier ingredients, and are therefore excellently adapted for use as fuel. The lighter oils yield more horsepower and gasoline.

The prospect of gasoline supply offers some reason for anxiety. It has been increased enormously within the last ten years, but the growth of the output has been only one-third as great as the growth of the automobile industry. There are now 7,500,000 automobiles in the United States; by the end of the present year there will be 9,000,000.

Nothing is more certain than that the supply of gasoline will not keep pace with the increasing demand. We shall have to look to coal tar as a source of motor fuel. Already "ben-zol," a by-product of the distillation of bituminous coal, is being used for this purpose in considerable quantities. Another fuel available (in carburetors and cylinders are redesigned) is alcohol, which can be obtained in unlimited quantities from molasses, unmarket-able potatoes, and all sorts of vegetable wastes.

WATCHING LIFE OF PLANTS

From fuller information, now at hand in regard to the machine by aid of which the Indian scientist, Sir J.
C. Bose, has been making visible in London the growth of plants, shows that he does much more than make visible what everybody already knew—that plants increase in size. He also has revealed that the growth of a plant is by no means steady or continuous—that it is affected by many of the influences bordering more nature that affect the growth of animals. In short, this machine, which is called a crescograph and magnifies movement a million times, proves that plants are much more alive than it is customary to credit them with being, and it is not an altogether fanciful notion that when the facts in relation to plant life become better known, something of consideration for their "feelings" and something of compassion about treating them cruelly may develop.

PHARMACY POPULAR

Pharmacy is a popular pursuit
among the women of South America, according to a Y. W. C. A. leader in that country, because it is a protected profession and is considered womanly.
South American girls have not gone into public life and into the business world and the trades as North American girls have and still consider, as a rule, only the so-called protected lines of work. They teach and sew and a few have become typists and stenographers, but most women who take up any profession train for nursing, medicine or pharmacy. Chemistry is also a popular study.

don't believe you have smoked one of those lovely cigars I gave you at wife's husband. "As a matter of fact I intend to keep them until my little Willie grows up and wants to learn to smoke."

SUMMER ILLS TAKE THE JOY OUT OF LIFE

Many People Miss Half the Joys of Summer Time With Its Honeysuckle Offering of Good Things to Eat Because of Their Susceptibility to Numerous Summer Afflictions. Nerv-Worth Overcomes These Quickly.

Summer complaints such as cramps in the stomach, dizziness, that tired stomach feeling, diarrhoea, etc., make life miserable to many people, and keep them from the enjoyment of many foods and pleasures of the summer. There is no necessity for any one to suffer from these complaints if they will make an effort to protect themselves against them by taking Nerv-Worth. Nerv-Worth contains ingredients which successfully combat these summer ills. It keeps the digestive system in good order, neutralizes excess acids, stops the formation of gases, and keeps the entire system in good shape. It will overcome cramps and pains in the stomach, belching, diarrhoea, etc., and it will do the work quickly. It contains no harmful ingredients, and can be taken by a little child as well as a grown person. Its pleasant taste makes it very agreeable. Don't pass up any of the joys of summer time because your stomach and intestinal tract won't behave. Eat what you like and enjoy it. You can do this nicely if you will take Nerv-

FEW HORSE-DRAWN VEHICLES

Carriage and Wagon Builders Have About Given Up That Branch of the Business.

The members of a firm formerly prominent in selling horse-drawn vehicles on the Pacific coast give some interesting figures showing how the carriage and wagon builders have lost business, due to the inroads of the automobile industry in the transportation field.

It seems that there were 14,000 buggies sold in Los Angeles county alone in 1900, and 6,500 wagons. Two years later the first motorcar appeared and business thereafter declined steadily.
It is doubtful if 100 luggies a year are sold now in California. Salesmen working in rural districts used to sell an average of two buggies a day and large sets of harness. One prominent wagon builder sold $5,000,000 worth of horse-drawn vehicles in 1900. In 1905 they stopped manufacturing them and concentrated their production facilities on motorcars, which they had gradually developed as their wagon trade decreased.

Not all firms were so far-sighted or fortunate, however, and many factories that formerly manufactured thousands of horse-drawn vehicles are now a memory. Most wagon builders of progressive mind installed motor-car departments and are now reaping
a harvest as manufacturers of special truck and van bodies to be fitted to standard motorcar truck chassis, work for which their mechanical equipment, working forces and experience are particularly well adapted.

EQUADOR HAS FEW SCHOOLS

Colleges in South American Country
Out of All Proportion to Primary Institutions.

If the proportion of whites in the population of a country is to be taken as an indication of its intellectual status, then one might fairly expect only a very moderate intellectual achievement from Ecuador. One of the smallest of Andean countries, with its few mountain towns linked with the rest of the world practically not otherwise than through its one important seaport, its entire population is only about 1½ million, and of this number all are Indians and blacks excepting the four hundred thousand of mixed origin and a mere one hundred thousand whites.

At best, the twelve hundred primary schools, with a nominal attendance of eighty thousand, do not begin to account for all the children of school age, and the thirty or forty secondary schools have to do with no more than forty-five hundred pupils, all told.
Like all Andean countries, however, Ecuador gives preference to all who assume to follow a professional career, and for higher instruction she counts the three universities of Quito, Guayaquil and Cuenca, with six provincial schools of trades and professions.

OFFICERS COPY D'ANNUNZIO

Gabriele d'Annunzio's bald head has set the fashion for the officers of his little army in Fiume, many of whom have shaved their craniums and are endeavoring to grow miniature Vandyke beards as copies of the poet's chip adornment.

The Fiume aviators have adopted the same with great zeal than other branches and call themselves "Iron Horns." Youthful officers have shaved their heads and are wearing little pointed beards in an effort to look as much like the poet as they can.
Mixed uniforms of French horizon blue and Italian gray green are worn by d'Annunzio's men with great pride.

VOLUME OF FREIGHT ON THE RAILROADS SHOWS A BIG GAIN

In Spite of Strikes is Within 10 Per Cent of Largest Ever Handled.

FIRST QUARTER RECORD

Was the Greatest in History of Railroads; Second Would Have Surpassed It Except for Labor Troubles; Facilities of Roads Not Increased.

For the first time since the railways were returned to private operation, says the Railway Age, it is possible this week to give statistics regarding the amount of freight handled for a considerable period by all the large railways in the country. Statistics regarding freight movement which we have published in recent issues have not included the returns from the Pennsylvania and a few other large systems. Figures now available, which are based on reports made by all the large railways, to the commissioner on car service show that in the week ended June 29 the number of cars of revenue freight loaded was 369,142 as compared with 367,907 in the same week of 1919. In the week ended June 26 the number of cars of revenue freight loaded was 369,350, as compared with 345,654 in the same week of last year. In the four weeks ended June 26 the total number of cars loaded was 3,405,500 as compared with 3,237,406 in the corresponding weeks of 1919.

The newspapers are full of reports regarding industries that are operating at such low levels that they are on the verge of closing down, because of the inability of the railways to handle all the traffic offered to them. In spite of strikes and other troubles the railways almost continuously in the year 1920 have been moving more freight than in 1919.

The railways this year have had a series of strikes in their history, and an excessive number of bad orders and an excessive number of bad orders, which are a heritage from government operation. Nevertheless in the first six months of the year they moved more freight of all kinds than ever before in the first six months of any year except 1917 and 1918. In January, February and March the amount of freight moved broke all records for those three months, and probably the same thing would have been true in April, May and June if it had not been for the railroad strikes. When all the statistics are available the indications are they will show that even in May and June, in spite of the strikes, the roads handled within 10 per cent as much freight as the large-est amount they ever moved in those two months.

The statistics of the United States Geological Survey regarding the movement of coal tell the same story. The number of tons of coal produced and moved by the railroads from January 1 to June 26, 1920, was 210,610,000 while in 1919 it was 201,935,000—an increase of 11,313,000 tons.

Why in the face of these facts are the industrial operations of the country being seriously interfered with and its financial stability threatened by insistent transportation? There can be only one rational answer to that question. The present conditions are partly due to the strikes but they are mainly due to the fact that for years the productive capacity of the country has been rapidly increasing while the facilities and capacity of the railroads have been increasing hardly at all.

Born Not Made.

From day to day proof is forthcoming that genius is spontaneous and not a slow growth—that it is of the type of Minerva who sprang full armed from the head of Zeus. This is evident as true of the genius of the man as it is popularly supposed to be of the mere ethereal forms of genius.

An instance in substantiation of this opinion was recently related by a veteran business man as a side light on the why of the success of a well known industrial leader.

"I remember him," it was related, "when he was a lad of six years. He wanted to trade a lantern for one owned by a playmate which he admired. Coming to his father he asked counsel about the matter and was informed that he should use his own judgment."

"Well, dad, said the boy, 'I believe I'll trade, but wouldn't you take the oil out first?'"—Wall Street Journal

Then Mamma Knew

"Mamma, I lost my gum," cried little Harold.

"Hush darling, she cut him off, then smiled apologetically at her guests.

"Mamma, I lost"—this time the mother smiling vacantly over her portion of the chop suey lunch effectively stopped Harold with a sharp pinch of his leg under the table.

When the guests had gone Harold posted the explanation. "All I wanted to tell you mamma was that I lost my gum in your chop suey, but you wouldn't let me finish."—Detroit Saturday Night

Smoke Recorder on Chimney

A new application of the metal selenium suggested by a French scientist, L. Angel is to use the selenium cells as smoke recorders in chimneys. A selenium cell is mounted on one side of a chimney or flue on the opposite side is fixed a lamp. The amount of light falling upon the selenium and hence the resistance of the cell will depend upon the density of the smoke in the flue. The fire can therefore be controlled by the galvanometer records.

SEASONABLE GOOD THINGS

A novel and a combination which we will like to try some of this summer days is this. Prepare it in the ordinary fashion. Save it and let it cool. When ready to serve put a spoonful of lemon juice or lemonade in a glass and cover with the lead tin.

Cherry Betty—Butter a deep dish and cover the bottom with plastic cherries. Sprinkle the fruit with sugar and nutmeg and coconut with sufficient cherry juice to moisten. On top of this spread a layer of ladyfinger crumbs repeat until the dish is full. Finish the top with the crumbs. Cover and stand in the oven one hour. Then uncover and brown quickly with hot with sweetened cream. A little Currant Catsup—Take five pounds of currants three pounds of sugar one tablespoonful of cinnamon one tablespoonful of allspice one to spoonful of black pepper one teaspoonful of salt and half a pint of vinegar. Wash the currants and rub them through a sieve, then add the other ingredients and let for twenty minutes. Add as you go, a little salt. This soup has an especially delicate flavor and is quite worth the trouble of making.

Macaroni Cream—Sauté one fourth of a box of gelatine in one fourth of a cupful of cold water. Make a salad dressing of a pint of milk and a half of yolks of three eggs one half cupful of sugar salt and vanilla to taste. Pour this custard over the softened gelatine then add one cupful of macaroni crumbs and set away to cool. When this begins to thicken add the whites of the eggs beaten stiff. Mix well pour in a mold and set in a cold place for three hours. Serve with small cakes.

Frozen Macadone—Beat 11 eggs from a cupful of cream or fresh cream. Add a cupful of sugar, a cupful of peaches, plums and pineapple put through the meat chopper and the cherry juice, set away to freeze. Add one fourth of a cupful of water and two teaspoonfuls of lemon juice. Freeze the mixture except the cherries which are stirred in when ready to pack. Let stand several hours to ripen.

JAP WOMEN WITHOUT RIGHTS

Many Restrictions to Be Removed Before There Can Be Thought of Suffrage

Perhaps it is a little premature for Japanese women to think of suffrage when they are so busy with their even possibly hostile to political speeches. It is curious to note in this connection that a similar vote has been taken in Japan in the past. The Japanese women have a right to vote in the local elections, but they are not allowed to vote in the national elections. PUTTING a hundred acres into garden truck—working on a thirty-story skyscraper—dashing along the rails in the cab of the Twentieth Century—every one of these workers is doing a different kind of job.

But when it comes to the best clothes for a man to wear on the job—that is one thing they all agree on.

They've all tried a lot of overalls, but today they're all strong for just one brand. They all wear Blue Buckles.

Like millions of other men on big jobs everywhere, they know that Blue Buckle Overalls meet every test of every kind of work. That is the reason Blue Buckles are the biggest selling overalls in the world.

Long wear is woven into the tough, thick denim cloth. Every pair is always big and roomy—always comfortable. The wide, double-stitched seams never rip. The heavy brass buttons and buckles don't rust or break. Every detail has the same sturdy, first-class workmanship—the same careful attention. Big, convenient pockets—extra wide suspenders, a solid backband, and free swing raglan sleeves on all the coats.

Wear, comfort, looks, you'll find them all in Blue Buckles. Ask your dealer for a pair today—Men's, Youths' and Children's sizes.

The Mystery of Hartley House

By CLIFFORD S. RAYMOND

Illustrated by Irwin Myers

"I cannot correct your convictions," I said. "You must use your best judgment. You have our permission to do anything that suggests itself to you."

"You're going to braver it out," he said. "We are not going to do anything at all," I said, "not setting any necessity for doing anything. I might merely suggest to you that there are legal provisions against blackmail."

The quiet little man, with his notion of profit evaporating, suddenly became a savage and desperate.

"I can't be fooled with," he cried. "I know you. You won't swindle me with a blackmail charge, because you do not dare. I know I am guilty and can be punished unless I have a real hold on this family. I have taken the chance that I have a real hold. It was not certain, but now I know it. It is not enough to keep you from making trouble for me, and I'll see that soon it will be enough to make you listen to me."

"You may do anything you want to do," I said.

He became quiet and coming again. "If you don't mind, I'd like to speak to you," he said.

I went for him. When he came, the little shabby lawyer became excited again and got up out of his chair to shake his finger at me.

"You are in for trouble," he said. "We know what you have, and we'll get it. They don't dare stop us, and I want to give you notice that you are marked. That's all. You'll be followed, and hounded and run down in the end, and there'll be an end to this senseless business here. It may be when you're dead."

"That's a threat, and the people in this house can make the best of it. I'm in this case to stay, and my Spanish client is not easily discouraged or controlled. You have chosen to deal with us in this fashion. We'll get the rest of this evidence, and we'll make you pay ten times more than we'd be willing to settle for now. We've got an angle in this matter, and we're going to collect it. We know all about you, my friend, and we'll show you that we do. Where's my case and hat? I'm going to get out of here. You'll regret it."

"Jed," I said, "show the gentleman where the door is and don't let the dog attack him on the way out."

A disappointed shrug went away in a hurry. I was not only perplexed but

"You Are In for Trouble," He Said. "We Know What You Have, and We'll Get It."

alarmed. Of the rapacity of the little man, of his lack of conscience and morals, I had no doubt at all. My only question was whether he could make his malevolence and cupidity effective.

Jed showed him to the door and then came back. I could see that he was frightened nearly to death.

CHAPTER IX

We had seen nothing of Dravada or the lawyer for nearly three weeks. I was unable to think that we had heard the last of them. Dravada's purpose had been too long nourished and the lawyer's cupidity was too great for either to abandon his intent. Jed's disposition was resilient, and soon he recovered his poise. He thought his enemies had abandoned their intent.

It was a relief to me when going to bed and lying a few minutes awake, to hear the rust and scurry of the dogs about the place. They were active at night. Rabbits, coons, weasels and occasionally a fox kept them moving.

Jed's courage returned—and with it, I was disturbed to observe, a threat of another fit of temper. It showed itself first in moodiness and then in insolence. I was glad to find that Jed in his mood this time was not directing himself against Mrs. Sidney. He had turned against me. I knew that he was in torment again. He had nothing to say to me unless he saw me in Mr. Sidney's room. Then he was pleasant.

"Jed," I said to him one morning, "show you better than you think I do. You'll torment yourself until you're something you'll regret."

"Go to the devil," said Jed. Isabel and I had been progressing rationally as two young people could, situated with regard to each

WORKS HARD TO AVERT FLU EPIDEMIC

Government and City Health Officials Warn People to Keep Clean.

Stay Away from People with Coughs and Colds.

"Avoid crowds if you want to avoid influenza," says Association for Improving the Conditions of New York.

Keep your hands clean, drink plenty of fresh water; sleep with windows open; eat three uniform meals a day including a good breakfast.

People who have catarrh or frequent colds invite influenza, declares a prominent Kentucky druggist.

The membrane of the throat and nostrils raw, sore and tender, and makes a lovely abiding place for germs to thrive and multiply. He advises an inexpensive home-made remedy that will bring relief in less than a day and will stop all discharge and scabs, and heal the inflamed membrane in a few days.

Thousands are making this beneficial remedy at home and anyone who has catarrh or a cold can do the same.

Four three-quarters of an ounce of Mouthkissed Arcline into a pint bottle, then fill the bottle with water that has been boiled. Gargle the throat as directed and snuff or spray the liquid into the nostrils twice daily. It's a simple way to get rid of cold and catarrh and keeps the nasal passage and throat clean and healthy.

Nearly all druggists dispense Mouthkissed Arcline in vials containing exactly three-quarters of an ounce, which is all you need to make a pint of this healthful medicine.

other as we were.

One evening I had been reading and Isabel had gone to the piano. I had put my book down on my knees as she began to play. Then I was aroused by perceiving, without seeing, that somebody was near me.

I turned suddenly and saw Jed. He was not three feet behind my chair. His face revealed disorder of mind.

"Do you want a cocktail?" he asked.

"No," I said.

Isabel touched the keys of the piano, as a player does with a need may do to express surfeit or conclusion.

"Not a mild one?" Jed asked, persisting.

"Well, then, very weak," I said.

I took up my book again and forced myself, as discipline, to read. I had not been able to do it so long as Isabel played, but now that she had stopped I might at least try.

I made an effort. I tried to keep my attention on the type. It was no use. After fifteen minutes' reading I found that I had not turned a page.

Neither had Jed brought the cocktail. I got up and walked about the library. I went to the front entrance to find if a few deep breaths in the open would not produce tranquillity.

As I stood at the entrance Isabel came running toward me. I heard her before I saw her. She was running and gasping. She came up the steps, saw me, controlled herself and tried to appear undisturbed. She might have succeeded, but a sleeve of her gown was torn from her waist and had fallen to her wrist.

"What has happened to you?" I asked.

"Nothing," she said.

"You are running."

"A little exercise."

"Look at your sleeve," I said.

She clutched it as if she had become conscious of it for the first time, and then ran by me and indoors.

We met at dinner twenty minutes later. Isabel had on another gown. Jed did not serve us. Dinner was delayed ten minutes. Then two maids undertook the service. Mrs. Sidney asked for Jed. One of the maids said that he had not appeared and they were doing the best they could without him.

"Why, what can have happened to Jed?" Mrs. Sidney exclaimed.

"What happened to Jed?" I asked.

Isabel after dinner when we were alone.

"I don't know," she said.

"Who tore your sleeve?"

"Jed," she said with resolute frankness.

"Where is he?"

"I don't know."

"Where were you when he did it?"

"At the edge of the woods. I had gone out for a bit of air—just across the lawn. Jed appeared."

"What did he say?"

"I don't know—something incoherent, violent; and he took me by the sleeve. I was not frightened, but I drew back suddenly. My sleeve ripped out. We were at the edge of the woods. Three men appeared, strung up Jed before he could cry out, picked him up and carried him off."

I spent the evening with Mr. Sidney and told him that Jed was ill. He was concerned, and I made the lie a kindly one.

"It is insignificant," I said. "With his habits he must occasionally pay a price. A touch of indigestion this time."

To extemporize a few lies to get through the night was easy enough; but Jed was not back in the morning, and Mr. Sidney had to be deceived in more enduring fashion.

I explained to him that Jed had been called away on an urgent matter, which caused to Mrs. Sidney to justify his going at once. Mrs. Sidney, at my request, made the same explanation later, and Mr. Sidney accepted it. This explanation seemed very lame to me, but I served. Mr. Sidney did not know of any reason why Jed should disappear. We offered him an explanation of the servant's absence, and he accepted it.

It was apparent that the Spaniard and the lawyer had been two of the men concerned in Jed's plight, and I thought it best to telephone a discreet detective agency and have the lawyer put under scrutiny. Mrs. Sidney thought this was a proper course—at least that no better one was available.

Two days later the detectives reported that the lawyer had disappeared from all his accustomed places and that he might require some time to get trace of him.

Jed had been gone four days when one of the maids asked for a month's leave. Her mother was very sick, she said. Mrs. Sidney agreed willingly, although desirous to have an unfamiliar servant in the house to fit this maid's place for the time she would be gone. Anna, the maid, said that a very close friend of hers would be of an opportunity to have a month in the country. Mrs. Sidney took Anna's recommendation with some relief.

This day Anna went away a very pretty girl was met at the train by the chauffeur. She was the thirty-day maid. I saw her as she came in. I thought her manner did not indicate domestic service, but afterward I found that in spite of appearance she was very deft and competent. With Jed gone, such of his duties as could be done by the maids were given them; and this new servant, Anna, was an efficient in the dining room that she took over what Jed had done there.

about him, and Agnes pleased him with her bright, pretty appearance and good-humored servability. In three or four days he was glad to have her assigned to duties which Jed had done for him. In little over a week Agnes had fitted into the routine of the house perfectly.

Up to this time nothing had been heard of Jed, but on the fifth day of his disappearance the detectives tele-

THE SPOT COKE MARKET SHOWS NO PRESENT SIGNS OF WEAKENING

In Fact, Impossible to Guess Limit Beyond Which It Cannot Go.

LAUNDRY SALES AT $19.50

And Even Higher, With Considerable Furnace Moving at $18; Contract Figures Nominally $19.50, But No Dependence on Either Sell or Buy.

Special to The Weekly Courier.

CONNELLSVILLE, July 23.—The spot coke market has advanced a shade in the past week. While the market was hardly said to be "going strong" it certainly shows nothing like signs of weakening, and as it has already passed beyond the bounds of probability it is impossible to make a guess as to any limit beyond which it cannot go. It is not a question of ability of consumers to pay high prices, for long ago the market passed beyond any regular relation with the selling price of iron. While sales of pig iron have been made lately at $41, there is iron being shipped on old contracts at $38.75 and of course $11 coke has no relation with iron at any such price. Buyers of furnace coke now in the market are not purchasing any large part of their requirements, but rather are picking up small lots to enable them to work to better advantage and the average cost of all the coke consumed is only slightly increased. Thus one of the buyers of late is an interest which makes by-product coke of its own, at a relatively low cost, and also makes some Conneltsville coke, but has seen fit to purchase additional Conneltsville coke in the open market.

Late last week sales of spot four-day coke at above $19, the quotation given in this report a week ago, became more numerous, and this week sales at $19.50 have been almost as frequent as sales at $19, although not involving as large a tonnage. There are occasional rumors of even more than $19.50 being paid.

In furnace coke there has been a considerable volume of business done at $18.50, though $18, the quotation given a week ago, has not disappeared. The price is made somewhat in accordance with the relations previously existing between buyer and seller, so that a consumer who has been in the market more or less regularly of late is likely to be able to buy at a lower price than a chance comer in the market. Further than that, it appears that some consumers have been in the market without being able to pick up any coke at all. In some of these cases the matter of price does not enter at all. One seller remarks that there are certain consumers to whom he would not sell coke at $25 a ton. The market is now quotable approximately as follows:

Spot furnace ..... $18.00 @ $18.50
Spot foundry ..... $19.00 @ $19.50
Contract fur. (nominal) ..... $18.50 @ $19.00
Contract fur. (actual) ..... $19.00 @ $19.50
Quotations on contract coke given above are based upon the last important transactions. At the present time there is no disposition on the part of producers to sell on contract nor is there any disposition on the part of consumers to buy.

In some quarters it is felt that the offerings of spot coke are somewhat heavier this week than in the previous days ago, but it is so heavy that they have not operated to break the market or even entirely to arrest the advance. There are some reports that shipments on contract have decreased, but it does not necessarily follow that this causes heavier offerings of spot coke. In many cases the operators who offer spot coke are those who have little if any contract tonnage.

Car supplies in the Pittsburgh coal district have been materially better than for this week than for some time past, but the little car supply has not operated to depress the market, which still lies within the limits of $10 to $12, per net ton at mine, depending on quality and commissions involved. Car shortage is still the dominant factor, and in most quarters it is spoken of as practically the only factor, yet there are some good reasons for believing that a rather moderate further increase in the car supply would uncover an unwillingness on the part of the miners to produce any more coal. This would be a shortage of labor, but not a shortage of workmen, there being no doubt that it offered full employment day after day for the miners could not put in full hours for any length of time. A crucial test of this attitude has been furnished by the river mines, where there is no transportation disability, but where the output recently decreased because the men began putting in shorter time, having limits as to the amount of money they wanted.

Sales of a few thousand tons each of Bessemer and basic pig iron have been made at $46, Valley, this putting the market quotation up $2 a ton. Foundry iron remains quotable at $45, though there is little doubt that $46 could be secured. The pig iron demand in the local market is for prompt deliveries only and there is very little iron to be offered on account of the restricted shipping facilities of the furnaces. Not a few of the furnaces are piling pig iron and the narrowness of the market is illustrated by the fact that the quotable price advances with such a condition obtaining. As to late deliveries, the furnaces are making no effort to effect sales while consumers show supreme indifference. Apart from early deliveries, the pig iron market is altogether a waiting game between producers and consumers and it is altogether uncertain which side will be the first to act. The market now stands quotable as follows:

Bessemer ..... $46.00
Basic ..... $46.00
Foundry ..... $45.00

COKE TRADE SUMMARY.

Production of coke took an upward turn last week, helped in that direction by a slightly better average car supply and the absence of holidays. The gain of 5,100 tons did not accomplish much toward recouping the losses of the two weeks immediately preceding but it did serve the purpose of giving a reverse to the downward trend of the production curve.

If the disposition of the railroad wage scale by the Labor Board is followed by an acceptance of the award, and that in turn results in achieving all that has been hoped and expected, the coke trade has the impression that quite a decided change will presently take place in the situation. If the effect be to bring about only a small but progressive improvement in the car situation, with respect to both percentage supplied and regularity of movement, the coke industry is due for decidedly larger production.

Coke prices keep in the high altitudes sustained by the insistent demands of consumers to whom a supply has become a matter of first consideration; price secondary. Foundry holds the altitude record at $45.40, although there are unofficial reports of still higher prices realized. Spot furnace keeps around $18.50 while $12.05 is the nominal figure on contracts but without any business being reported closed. Closing of certain plants has caused effort to slump off, but by-product still commands $11.00.

Malleable ..... $15.00

These prices are f. o. b. Valley furnaces, freight to Pittsburgh being $1.10.

NO IMPROVEMENT IN CAR SUPPLY FOR STEEL MILLS IS OBSERVABLE

Interpretation of Coal Car Preference Order Has Not Produced Expected Results Thus Far.

Special to The Weekly Courier.

NEW YORK, July 23.—The American Metal Market and Daily Iron & Steel Report will review the steel and iron trade tomorrow as follows:

The iron and steel industry has been hoping for some relief in the matter of car supplies for shipping its product, by reason of the interpretation of the coal car preference order to exclude flat bottom gondolas under 36 inches high, inside measurement, but thus far no improvement has occurred, and shipping conditions at the mills and furnaces are on an average poorer than they were in June. Thus far the industry has been well enough supplied with fuel to enable it to make much more steel than it could ship, but the latter order, No. 9, giving a special preference in cars for moving coal to public utilities, etc., may result in decreased coal supplies to the steel industry.

The production of steel, as steel continues at approximately the June rate, finishing operations are awaiting, so that more steel is accumulating in the sent-in finished form. The common policy among the mills now is to put into finished form only the steel that can be shipped currently. Some of the steel made to customers' specifications now piled has no promise of being shipped in the near future, and may eventually prove embarrassing.

Except for a little pig iron buying here and there for late this year and early next year, the only pig iron market in the prompt market, and that shows an advancing tendency as the river is still harder to secure. The spectacle of prices advancing while furnace pile iron is quite interesting.

Premiums for spot and prompt shipment of steel continue to diminish, while the prices of the large independent, for delivery in the nearby future, are rather firmly held. They are unyielding, so that more steel is accumulating in the sent-in finished form. The common policy among the mills now is to put into finished form only the steel that can be shipped currently. Some of the steel made to customers' specifications now piled has no promise of being shipped in the near future, and may eventually prove embarrassing.

The steel industry believes that financial conditions are sounder than a month or two ago, but cannot see the time near at hand when investors generally will be encouraged to take hold in large construction projects.

HOLIDAY SLUMP IN OUTPUT OF BEEHIVE LESS THAN EXPECTED

For the United States the decrease was 12,000 tons, or only 1.5 per cent, week July 30.

The holiday slump in the production of beehive coke in the United States was not as great as might have been expected, says the weekly report of the United States Geological Survey, prepared by E. G. Tryon. The total output is estimated on the basis of railroad shipments at 363,000 net tons, a decrease when compared with the preceding week of 12,000 tons, or 3.3 per cent. The decline centered in Pennsylvania. Production in the Conneltsville region, as reported by The Courier, declined from 178,200 to 162,300 tons.

Cumulative production since the beginning of the year now stands at 11,269,000 tons, an increase over 1919 of 10 per cent.

The production by districts, compared with the corresponding week of 1919, was as follows:

District	1920	1919
Pennsylvania and Ohio	266,000	250,000
West Virginia	57,000	16,000
Alabama, Tennessee and Georgia	34,000	26,000
Virginia and Kentucky	24,000	21,000
Colorado, Oklahoma, Texas and New Mexico	8,000	8,000
Washington and Utah	4,000	4,000

FOREIGNER KILLS WOMAN

Tragedy Unfolded at Latrobe as Outcome of Children's Quarrel.

Mrs. John Stahl, 35 years old, of Latrobe, was shot through the head and instantly killed by Joe Koriko, at her home Wednesday night at 6:30. Koriko then slashed his throat but did not seriously wound himself. The murder was the result of a quarrel earlier in the day between the Stahl and Koriko children. The two families live directly opposite each other.

Koriko is a coal miner and on his return home from work yesterday afternoon he was told of the quarrel. It is said he became angry and, reaching a .22 calibre revolver, ran across the street to the Stahl home and fired one shot at Mrs. Stahl, the bullet striking her in the head. She died before any one could reach her. Koriko was taken to the Westmoreland county jail in Greensburg. Mrs. Stahl is survived by her husband and six children. Koriko has a wife and seven children.
